A screenshot of the Jefferson County website's "Types of Permits" page. On the left is a navigation menu with categories: "Inside the Home", "Outside the Home", "New Homes and Accessory Dwellings", "Commercial and Industrial", "Engineering and Earthwork", "Other Permits", and "Exceptions and Relief". An arrow points from the "Types of Permits" link in the menu to the main content area. The main content area has a breadcrumb trail: "Development & Transportation > Sitemap > Planning & Zoning > Permitting Information > Types of Permits". Below the breadcrumb is the heading "Types of Permits" and a paragraph: "The following pages outline permitting information for various types of projects. Requirements may vary based on the nature of the project and the property." This is followed by a section titled "Submitting Permit Documents" with a "NEW:" notice: "Planning and Zoning only accepts the following permits and applications through our Online Application System (no paper or email submittals):". A bulleted list follows: Building Permits, Floodplain Permits, Land Disturbance Permits (including Grading Permits, Notice of Intents and Natural Surface Trails), Minor Adjustments, Pre-Applications, Rezoning, and Site Development Plan.
