WHAT IS A REAPPRAISAL?

- Property is valued every two years for property tax purposes
- According to Colorado law, only sales from a specific time frame can be used to value residential property
- Property is valued as of an appraisal date – June 30, 2022

Valuation Study Period

Appraisal Date June 30, 2022

*Values are based on condition and level of property completion as of the Jan. 1 assessment date.

The Jefferson County Assessor's Office provides tools and publications on our website so that property owners can research their value. One example is the "Sales" tab on your property's page within our Property Records Search application, which returns sales in your area that match several of your home's important characteristics. Additional search criteria is also available. Please visit www.jeffco.us/assessor

YOUR NOTICE OF VALUATION

On May 1, the Assessor's Office mails each property owner a notice of the appraised value of their property. After receiving your postcard, we recommend that you visit the Assessor website to review your property characteristics and study period sales in your area. Remember, the market value stated on your Notice of Valuation is an estimate of your home's worth on June 30, 2022. A more detailed Notice of Value can be found on our website by searching for your property in our Property Records Search application.

YOUR RIGHTS OF APPEAL

If you feel that your valuation is incorrect after reviewing sales and characteristics for your property, you may appeal your property valuation to the Assessor between May 1 and June 8. Assessor-level appeals may be filed on our website for residential appeals or by mailing back the appeal form that is part of the NOV postcard. Regardless of the method you choose, each appeal receives careful consideration and review. Be sure to include any information you have gathered in your research to support your appeal.

Our office will make a decision and mail a Notice of Determination to you on or before August 15.

If you still disagree with the Assessor's Office's valuation, you may file an appeal with the County Board of Equalization (CBOE) on or before Sept. 15. Hearing officers are appointed by the County Commissioners to administer the cases and provide a recommendation for each appeal. The Board schedules and completes their appeals by Nov. 1. Written notification is mailed within five business days once the Board has approved recommendations made by the hearing officers.

HOW ARE RESIDENTIAL PROPERTY TAXES CALCULATED?

Property taxes are calculated by first multiplying the actual value of your property by the statewide residential assessment rate (currently 6.765%*) to arrive at the assessed value. The assessed value is then multiplied by the mill levy to arrive at the taxes due on your property. The County Treasurer is responsible for mailing tax bills and collection of taxes. You will receive a tax bill from the Treasurer each year in January for the taxes due for the previous year.

* The residential assessment rate is periodically determined by the legislature.

 The mill levy, also known as the tax rate, can include levies from a variety of taxing districts, such as schools, counties, cities, and special districts. One mill is equal to $1 of property tax for every $1,000 of assessed value.

SENIOR AND DISABLED VETERAN TAX EXEMPTIONS

Seniors over 65 who have owned and occupied their home as their primary residence for over ten years as of January 1 qualify for a state-funded property tax exemption. For those who qualify, fifty percent of the first $200,000 of actual value of the home is exempted from taxes, and this reduction is noted only on the homeowner's tax bill. Qualifying senior citizens must submit their application to the Assessor's Office on or before July 15, and once approved there is no need to reapply. Forms are available on the Assessor website.

A similar exemption is available for veterans who have been rated by the United States Department of Veterans Affairs as having a 100% "permanent and total" disability. Application for this type of exemption is made to the Division of Veterans Affairs by July 1; the application and other important information are available on the Assessor website.
