Significance

In order to designate a site, building, structure, or object as a Historic Landmark or a Historic District, it should be 50 years old and have integrity. If the property is less than 50 years old and has exceptional significance it may also be considered. Only one of the following criterions is required for eligibility on the Jefferson County Landmark Register.

- it represents distinctive characteristics of a type, period, type of construction, or use of materials;
- it represents the work of a craftsman, master designer, architect or builder who is locally, regionally or nationally recognized;
- it is associated with or is the location of a significant local, state or national event;
- it is associated with the lives of (a) person(s) who have made significant historical contributions on a local, state or national level;

- it is significant as the only or one of a few remaining example(s) of an architectural style or use, or it represents historical or cultural life style of the past (i.e., stage coach stop and/or buildings, or one-room rural school house);
- it has a unique location, natural setting or physical characteristics that establish it as a familiar or recognizable visual feature to the area;
