

Success Profile

α VETERAN

Nathaniel C - Veteran
2015

THE CHALLENGE

Nathaniel, a veteran, was essentially homeless at times and unemployed but did have a Bachelor's degree in biology. To get his life back on track, he wanted help becoming eligible for an internship in astro-biology at Harvard.

THE SOLUTION

Through a special Dislocated Worker grant and the GI Bill, Nathaniel was able to take the needed math courses. Through the American Job Center's help and support through this process, Nathaniel got back on his feet and became a real force in a local community college's NASA program.

THE OUTCOME

Currently, Nathaniel is in the application process for three internships offered in his field by NASA. While training, he won numerous scholar awards and wrote three peer-reviewed articles for publication. Nathaniel is currently a teaching assistant for Harvard University Astrobiology.
